

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A computer program product to control a computer to function as a folder name generating device to generate a folder name, the folder name generating device comprises a reading section to read information stored in or attached to a file of a specified format, wherein the information is defined so as to have a predetermined meaning; and a folder name generating section to generate a folder name of a folder to control the file of the specified format on a basis of the information having the predetermined meaning.